John Dickinson High School
Wilmington, Delaware

This has been a year of adjustments, not only for the new students, but for the long-time students of Dickinson High School as well. Two different cultures have been merged. The result? Questioning expressions. Apprehension. Finally, the realization that two groups of human beings have been cautiously studying each other, attempting to determine what the next move should be.

Through school activities, the "city" and the "suburban" students were able to inter-mingle, throwing new ideas into the scenario of Dickinson High. Seeing "the otherside" at close range has been responsible for breaking down numerous barriers and erasing many prejudices stemming from our own ignorance. Basically, the students have worked well together with the goal of trying to create a better school environment for everyone.

The old is no longer
Times have changed
People have changed
A new era has been born
A new day has dawned
We are the beginning

Fall Sports

Fall sports enthusiasts certainly suffered a tremendous let-down this year. Dickinson teams posed strong threats in the early fall until the teacher strike completely killed the athletic program. Unfortunately, the Dickinson teams did not have chances to compete during the strike as did many teams from other schools. This fact incited student protests at the State Tournaments between teams who were lucky enough to complete their season uninterrupted.

In most cases, the senior year of an athlete is the best year. Varsity status has been achieved, often for the first time. The senior athletes were indeed hurt the most. They will not have the opportunity to treasure the memories of a complete fall season. The Sophomores and Juniors have only to look forward to a strong and competitive athletic program next year.

Seniors

The senior year — no more teachers, no more books, etc. after June (at least for some students). For others there looms the shadow of college life. For these people, the senior year is one hassle after another with the detailed college applications and other such annoying forms.

Seniors — Sophomores and Juniors envy them, teachers are wary, waiting for their inevitable "senior slide." Seniors? Well, while they are busy, counting down the days until graduation and making their final hours meaningful, they must bid a fond farewell to all that gave them their lasting memories of high school life. Goodbye Dickinson sports, cut slips, hallpasses, late bells, homeroom, Mr. Jeffers.

Morning after morning we arise and go forth to the great American institution of learning called high school. Why must we trek onward when the morning is cold and our rooms are warm? We are faced with days of temperature extremes and the same old routine. Surely, everyone has asked themselves this question. Day after day, week after week, the time seems to drag on endlessly, until we look back only to find that years have slipped away, silently. Now we ask ourselves if we accomplished all that we wanted from our high school years. And if we answer no, now we realize it is too late.

Faculty

Dickinson students have seen many new faces in the school's faculty this year. With the new staff members come a wide variety of backgrounds, teaching methods and personalities. Because of this situation, the students face challenges unknown to them in the past. For example, as a result of the heavily structured school days, students rarely have the opportunity to see their teachers in any capacity other than as a teacher. More than ever before, getting to know a teacher outside of the classroom is nearly impossible.

This year, almost all students have come in contact with a teacher who was completely unknown to them previously. The disadvantages of not being able to hear "grape-vine" gossip about each teacher are numerous. A rich supply of knowledge concerning a certain teacher's "pet-peeves", disciplinary measures, test formats, and "brownie point" system could prove to be very valuable sometimes. Alas . . . the system of passing the words of wisdom and experience from class to class has truly seen its better day.

Juniors

The Junior year of high school is a time of growing and transformation. Juniors are no longer the youngsters of the school nor do they face the pressures and challenges associated with Seniordom. Though juniors have achieved higher class status, there is still plenty of time for having fun in the year before the heavy decision making begins. Perhaps the 11th grade is the last care free year of high school. As Juniors ascend to wait for Seniors and the story goes.

Winter Sports

As the long, hard winter drags on, boredom becomes the major enemy. The Winter Athletic Program helps revive the students and faculty alike by adding a touch of excitement to the seemingly endless routine. As the fans cheer on, spirits rise and, momentarily, the pressures of school are forgotten.

Events

Wrestling

The wrestling team had a super season this year finishing second in Blue Hen Conference Flight A with an impressive 11-2 record over all. Owing to much of the outstanding junior talent on the team, Coach Beaman feels the prospects for a successful State Tournament are excellent. The captains of the 1978-1979 wrestling team were Seniors Greg McDonald and Tom Mancari. Special recognition for a season well done must be given to Dave Damiani (who was undefeated), Bill Foster, Pat McKee, Pete Smith, John McDonald and Tom Mancari.

Kneeling: Tex D. Darnan, B. Quinn, R. Faulkner, J. Hammons, J. Adams, S. Eppig, P. Smith, K. Morgan. Second Row: D. Nixon, G. McDonald, F. Fosse, J. Matlock, J. Jackson, F. Jackson, R. Cartway, J. Cox. Third Row: Mr. Yarnes, K. Janowski, S. Abbott, P. McKee, R. Donovan, E. Jarrell, J. McDonald, W. Everett, Mr. Beaman.

Girls Basketball

Since the 1979 girl's basketball season started off with only two remaining seniors, this was a year of rebuilding. Although lack of experience was the cause of some inconsistency, the team was highly successful, overcoming the dilemma of comparatively shorter players. Coach Jim Smith will lead his team into the State Tournament again this season for the third consecutive year.

Special recognition must be given to the team captains, Seniors Denise Beddow and Chris Reardon. Denise Beddow, who started for the team since her sophomore year, was a team leader in scoring. Chris Reardon led the team in rebounds. Junior Nancy Lynch must also be given credit for a fine season. Coach Smith is very optimistic about the outstanding junior talent on the team.

Kneeling R. Louth R. Faliows, N. Gardner, T. Muller, N. Lynch, L. Urban, S. Elm. Second Row K. Maddreu, L. Jenkins, D. Beddow, C. Reardon, T. Pruett, H. Boniface, P. Loder, K. Owens, Mr. Smith

Boy's Basketball

Coach Realer, a new face at Dickinson High this year, took over the boy's basketball team with the help of Assistant Coach Sweeney. Though many of the players were new and inexperienced, the team pulled together, demonstrating the positive effects of togetherness and teamwork, to achieve a successful and competitive season. Besides their outstanding playing abilities, credit must be given to Bob Zimny, Bill Casey, and Rob Newman for their fine examples of leadership and sportsmanship.

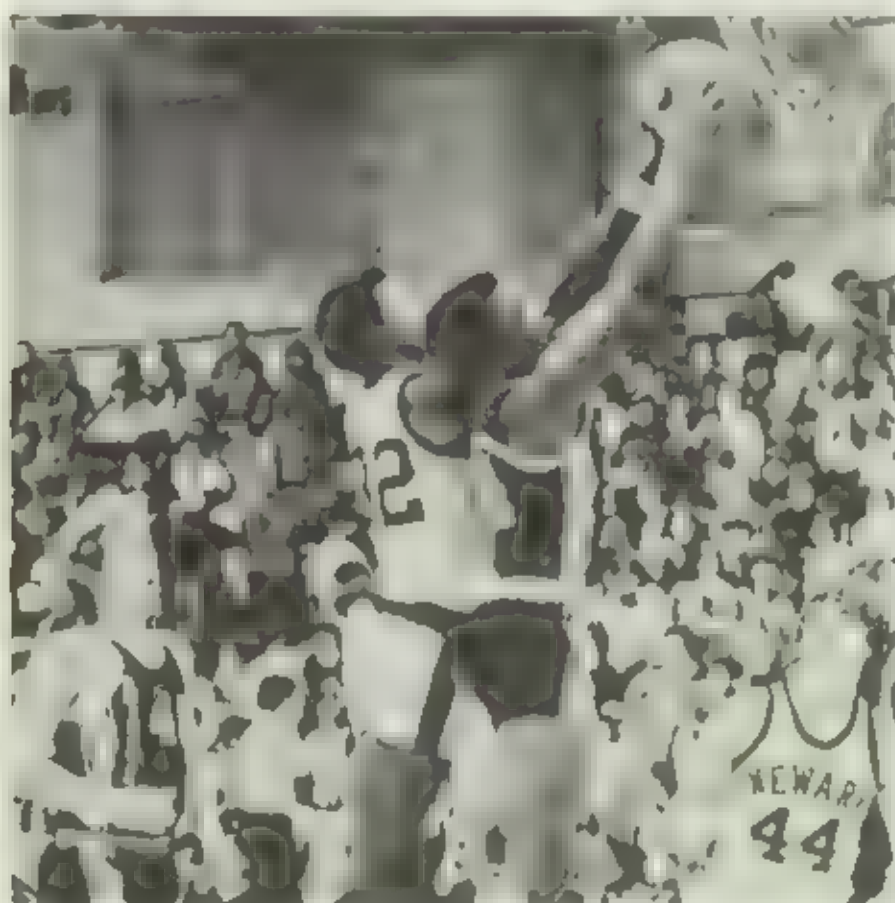

Coach Realer feels his personal highlight was the fine attitudes and unity displayed by the team members throughout the season.

Sophomores

Entering a new and seemingly hostile environment, the sophomores are prone to the vast pitfalls of high school life. Generally, they live in a world of insecurity, facing such horrors as Driver's Education and the childbirth movie in Health Class. Still, in spite of their numerous misadventures in their first year of senior high school, sophomores must be given their fair share of credit: most do lumber along through trial and error and gain the knowledge and maturity necessary to become respected Juniors and Seniors.

Student Life

Of course, with adjustment comes change. The old timers cannot relish the mixture of quiet chaos in the Learning Center this year. The student relaxation area is centered in the cafeteria, the place for munching-out, attempting to do homework, socializing, and last minute cramming for tests. Although the atmosphere is a bit more boisterous, students are able to unwind from the pressures of the school day.

Since the students at Dickinson come from a wide range of life styles and backgrounds, the student government planned such activities as dances and spirit week with the hope of trying to bring together all of the students and inspiring some good, old fashioned school spirit.
